

NEWS FROM THE TEDRICK'S

Former Pastor Kory Tedrick and family who left here to become church planters in Cortland, Ohio have left a growing congregation there to start yet another new church in Wentzville, Missouri, a town near St. Louis at the intersection of 3 major hi-ways. The new church will be named "Convergence" and serve a busy and growing area. Kory writes a full account of their travel from Ohio and arrival in Missouri and it is posted on the Missions bulletin board for you to read. Following are some excerpts from it...

On July 25th we went to a church called Matthias Lot (named for the disciple who was chosen to replace Judas.) It is a new church plant in St. Charles and meets on Wednesday evenings instead of Sundays but has small groups that meet in homes at 11AM on Sundays.

We celebrated two Sundays ago at a church called The Journey. It's a multi campus church in St. Louis reaching people it seems everyone else said couldn't be reached.

This past Sunday we were at Grace Bible Church in Florissant, MO. Rod Walker is the Pastor there and he welcomed us with open arms, even allowing me to share for a few minutes our God-given dreams for Wentzville.

Toni has had several job interviews, even a teaching position at a school for medical assistants.

We've looked at over 100 houses, put bids in on three different ones, ended up having an offer accepted on a new spec house in the school district we hoped to be in.

Here are things you can pray about right now...

Pray for those who've shown interest in Convergence so far, that they will have patience with us as we get few things settled.

Pray for our financial needs. We are at only 27% of our needs. If you would like to send a gift send it to:
